Index of Volume 2 (1999)

Number 1, April

B. PALUMBO : Classes of arithmetical multiplicative functions and numerical derivative	1–20
T. HEDGEPEETH, F. C. LIN, N. PAWAR AND N. VENKATESH : Application of the clinical matrix to the differential diagnosis of intestinal diseases	21–30
L. GIONFRIDDO : On the parameter $m_2(h)$ for graphs	31–34
L. M. ABATANGELO AND M. ERROI : Uniform 20-sets of class $[0, 2, 3, 4, 5]$ in $AG(2, 7)$	35–44
N. A. KOFAHI : Recent developments in application-oriented computer system architectures	45–57
F. DI GENNARO AND S. FURNERI : On C_λ and F_λ multiplicative functions in Dirichlet ring	59–72
M. H. AL-TOWAIQ : An improved algorithm for the iterative refinement method	73–76
N. TEODORI : A characterization of irreducible configuration (n_3)	77–83
W. F. A. EL-WAHED : A multi-attribute model for selecting the best heat ventilating air conditioning system	85–92

Number 2-3, August-December

N. FAGHIH : The autocorrelation function extrapolation and equivalence of determinant and entropy maximizations	93–103
N. FAGHIH : On the estimation of missing initial autocorrelation coefficients	105–120
N. FAGHIH AND A. ABARESHI : Applying the artificial neural networks to the renewal function estimation procedure for equipment replacements in preventive maintenance planning and management	121–139
G. MONACO AND A. MONACO : Various genesis of permutations; determinants; square matrices as graphical schemes; generalization of Sarrus' rule and its historical precedents	141–177
V. R. KULLI, B. JANAKIRAM AND R. R. IYER : The cototal domination number of a graph	179–184
D. G. AKKA AND M. S. PATIL : 2-minimally nonouterplanar semitotal-block graphs and total-block graphs	185–196
E. SPIEGEL : Algebraic radicals and incidence algebras	197–204
Erratum	205
