Index of Volume 4 (2001)

Number 1, March

E. G. VARAGOULI, T. E. SIMOS, G. GIANNOPOULOS, B. STEFANIS AND G. S. XEIDAKIS : Regression models for intercity auto directional travel demand	1-28
W. A. S. ALKHORAEIF : Specification of autocorrelated distur- bances in non-linear regression model	29-39
P. CHU : On inventory models with partial backlogging	41-52
C. C. TSAI : Fuzzy modeling in forecasting nuclear power plants' accident happen and energy produced	53-63
M. M. SMADI AND A. ABU-TALEB : Bayes estimation of binary time series	65-71
M. JAIN AND I. DHYANI : Control policy for $M/E_k/1$ queueing system	73-82
F. M. ALI : Parametric bounds for parametric fuzzy nonlinear programming problems	83-91
B. CORBITT AND S. GANESALINGAM : Comparison of two leading multivariate techniques in terms of variable selection for linear discriminant analysis	93-108

Number 2, July

Y. Y. CHUNG : An empirical study on the origins and achievements of salespeople in Taiwan	109–121
K. KANTZOS AND L. VRIZIDIS : Statistical testing of empirical research hypotheses in accounting	123–136
S. BHATTACHARYA : Mathematical modelling of a generalized securities market as a binary, stochastic system	137–145
C. H. LAN, T. S. LAN AND L. J. YEH : Forecast cost budget of material ordering and inventory through the price change rate	147–160
M. S. RAHMAN : Bootstrap Monte Carlo simulation study of sugar industry in Bangladesh	161–173
M. RAHMAN, J. CORTES, R. HANSHEW AND C. PARDIS : A note on logistic regression	175–187
S. STEFANI AND A. TORRIERO : Statistical indicators useful in real specturum location	189–200
E. A. YOUNESS : Quasi and strictly quasi E -convex functions	201–210

Number 3, November

K. S. WU : An inventory model for deteriorating items with stock-dependent demand and shortages under inflation and time discounting	211–225
C. K. HUANG : Inventory model involving lead time as a decision variable with a mixture of lost sales and backorders	227–237
T. M. CHANG AND C. H. LAN : A modularized forecasting tool for ordering/inventory cost	239–254
C. TSAMADIAS, J. CHILAS AND C. A. BOTSARIS : Determinants of earnings in the public and private sector in Greek labour market: the case of tertiary technological and secondary education graduates	255–274
J. G. CHILAS : Does Wagner's law really apply to Greece?	275–293
K. D. TSEKOURAS AND P. T. SYPSAS : Estimation of the production capacity utilisation rate through the marginal behaviour of the returns to scale parameter	295–311
M. A. HOQUE AND M. S. RAHMAN : Markov chain analysis of succession for a university admission test of Bangladesh	313–325
C. O'MUIRGHEASA, S. N. KADIPASAOGLU AND B. M. KHU-MAWALA : An investigation into the effect of a more accurate measure of distance on the detailed facility layout problem	327–340
