CONTENTS

N. ALEXANDRIS, C. FOUNTAS AND A. VLACHOS : The ant colony system : optimization for the logistics of marine cargo in the Aegean	1–11
C. C. WU : A makespan study of the two-machine flowshop scheduling problem with a learning effect	13–25
G. K. JANSSENS, K. SÖRENSEN AND A. D. BEUCKELAER : The validity of aggregation in the study of unreliable continuous transfer lines	27–37
F. J. LIN : Forecasting the demand for mobile phone in Taiwan by combined forecasts	39–52
M. M. ALI, J. WOO AND S. NADARAJAH : Bayes estimators of the exponential distribution	53–58
N. CROCETTO AND G. PUGLIANO : Distribution of some statistics in the presence of blunders in geodetic observations	59–84
K. J. CHUNG AND T. S. HUANG : The optimal cycle time for deteriorating items under permitted delay of payment	85–101
Y. F. HUANG : Retailer's ordering and payment policy under trade credit and cash discount	103–120
P. CARICATO, G. GHIANI, A. GRIECO AND R. MUSMANNO : Batch scheduling in a two-stage flow shop with parallel and bottleneck machines	121–130
C. CANEL AND T. RISHL : An overview of quality, purchasing and just-in-time interactions	131–148
C. Y. CHOU, H. R. LIU AND C. H. CHEN : Interval estimation for the larger-the-better type of signal-to-noise ratio using bootstrap method	149–175
C. H. CHEN : Determining the optimum process mean under a Gamma distribution	177–185
V. B. KRENG AND C. H. CHANG : A novel mechanism for multi agents to inference, negotiate, and pool information based on Bayesian networks	187–208
